day, charged with the murder of her husband, Dennis Redmond,
The woman was taken before Justice Bowie, who held her for the grand jury and sent her to jall at Fairfax. She was brought to this city and spent the night at the police headquarters here, and will be taken to Pairfax jall today. When interviewed in her cell this morning, the Redmond woman denied that she murdered her husband, but said a man by the name of Ashton Williams, shot him. She claims that her husband started the trouble with Williams, while her back was turved she heard a shot fired. Williams, running away, called to her that he had shot her husband.

CORPORATION COURT CASES.

In the corporation court, Judge Louis
C. Bariey presiding, the following business was transacted yesterday:
The will of the late Mrs. Dolly Callahan was admitted to probate. She leaves her estate to her children. C. H. Callahan and Nellie V. Ramey qualified as administrators, trustees, and were appointed guardians of her infant children.

In the case of George Sizemore, administrators and continuance of several days was asked for and granted. A second continuance was granted, and when the case was called today Attorney Tobriner, who represents the accused baker, said he had decided to demand a jury trial. This will set the hearing in the case of for a month or more.

The law provides for the imposition of a penalty of $2 fine for each short weight loaf. Because Sachs' alleged offense is punishable by a fine of $160 he was granted a jury trial.
